

You are excited about innovation and fascinated by new technologies and trends?
You want to create social impact and think that digitalization and NGOs are a good match?
You work entrepreneurial and want to empower others in the co-creation of digital products?
You are a creative-analytical mind with agile experience and product know-how?

Then join our team at BeeTwo and drive innovative digital products with social impact.
We are currently looking for an:

Innovation Consultant and Startup Scout

About us:

At BeeTwo, we believe that digital innovation creates social impact. Therefore, we empower our partners to create digital solutions that overcome social pains. In our innovation lab we enable the co-creation of digital solutions to social problems, based on a deep understanding of the underlying needs. We combine and leverage the expertise of our networks in the non-profit, tech and business world. As a result we make the market launch of some of these digital prototypes possible by helping to create a sustainable basis for their development. With ERSTE Foundation and George-labs, we have two strong partners at our side supporting our cause.

Your Job:

- You design and lead innovation processes with NGOs to develop digital tools that create social impact.
- You organize and run co-creation workshops and coach up to five NGOs in parallel on their way to digital social innovations.
- You educate and intensely guide participating NGOs as contact person for all innovation related topics and questions.
- You scout relevant start-ups and digital solutions that add value to the solutions.

Your Experiences:

- You have a university degree with technical and/or business administration orientation.
- You have 2-3 years of relevant practical experience in areas of innovation and project management or consulting.
- You love to structure processes and strive for excellence in running them.
- You are interested in social innovation and have experience in user research.
- You are an excellent communicator and love to run innovation workshops.
- You have excellent verbal and written communication skills in German and English.
- You are a professional user of Microsoft Office products (Word, Excel, PowerPoint).

Our offer:

- A challenging role at the interface of entrepreneurship, innovation and social impact.
- We live a startup culture of speed, trial & error and execution.
- We encourage self-reliant and responsible working attitude.
- We love to work in a small interdisciplinary team with strong feedback culture.
- We offer a competitive and performance-related salary dependent on your professional and personal qualifications. We are obliged by law to quote the minimum wage of EUR 35.000,-- gross per year for this full-time position, in accordance with the respective collective agreement.

Send us your CV as well as a motivational letter to: nicole.traxler@beetwo.at
We would love to get to know you soon!